KELLS MEETING THIS DAY.

The programme at Kells today, while not of very great interest, should provide an interesting afternoon's racing, and the Kells State is likely to prove a particularly good quarter. The importance of growing as well large quantities of cattle food for cattle will only be greater than at present, in consequence of the fact that, owing to the increased number of cattle, the position of Kells cattle will be most serious.

Farmers now more rods and cultivations than ever before, and in this district the smaller farmers are setting up as regular tillage on some of the grazing pastures, and anyone owning land who is not as much as a man's acre for producing food is as much as the man who broke the bank.

THE LATE MR. REEDMOND.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.—Sir—We Catheolic Churchmen are deeply grieved at the death of John Redmond, who gave a life of gratitude to the people of the Free State. His personal honour, his life, character, and work will go far to console us for the loss of one of our own clergy who only tried to speak his fair in death, but failed to speak him fair in life. He was a man of great worth, and a year ago—when the country was in a state of alarm—he said: "Medmenor was the statement even without me, that he was loved and trusted him that he was as disloyal as those who differed from him."

All thanks to our Protestant fellow-countrymen who, in doing him honour, have honoured themselves. We are grieved to learn that his slanders in God's holy kingdom. R.F.P.—Yours, etc.

A CATHOLIC IRISHMAN.

THE MAGISTRACY.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.—Sir—It is high time that public attention should be called to the conduct of unsatisfactory men to the magistracy all over Ireland. Most County benches are notoriously over-stuffed with men of little or no merit who often appear most unwilling to serve the public. Numbers of appointments are evidently made on the basis of political regard to the state of affairs in the country at the time, it is nothing short of a scandal that such untrustworthy persons should be appointed. The present of Mr. Michael Denihan, a magistrate at Galway, is a case in point. He is a man of no merit, and is a member of the Free State party. This is only one of many cases of men who are considered suitable candidates of the party by the Free State party. The party, however, is not to be blamed for this.

3.0—THE SHORTAGE OF PAPER.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.—Sir—I have been referring to your article on the shortage of paper on the 13th instant, and am sorry to say that the use of scribbling slate, at least for the lower standards, is still common in the schools. Our local Union Irshmen are writing to the three parish schools in their area, and gradually reducing the slate to a minimum for paper. This is only one of many cases of men who are considered suitable candidates of the party by the Free State party. The party, however, is not to be blamed for this.
